

Donor Privacy Policy

The North Georgia Community Foundation has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate its firm commitment to the privacy of Foundation donors and website users. The following paragraphs describe the North Georgia Community Foundation's information gathering and dissemination practices. The privacy statement may change at any time and any changes will be posted on this page. Should you have additional questions, comments or concerns, please contact:

The following topics describe how the North Georgia Community Foundation uses information voluntarily submitted by its donors and other visitors to the site.

E-mail Privacy

Your email address will only be used by the North Georgia Community Foundation. The Foundation does not share, sell, or rent e-mail addresses to anyone outside the organization. If you do not wish to receive e-mail correspondence, please e-mail your request to bsteed@ngcf.org or call Beth Steed at 770-535-7880.

Use of IP Addresses and Cookies

A unique number called an IP address identifies every computer on the Internet. Each time you connect to the Internet your machine is assigned an IP address. An IP address is a number that identifies each sender or receiver of information. The North Georgia Community Foundation uses your IP address to help diagnose problems with our server, and to administer the Foundation website.

"Cookies" are small pieces of information that are stored by your browser on your computer's hard drive. Most Web browsers automatically accept cookies, but if you prefer, you can edit your browser options to block them. The North Georgia Community Foundation uses cookies to maintain user session identity, and in some non-member areas, to store your username and password locally for ease of access.

The North Georgia Community Foundation may also collect demographic information about visitors to ngcf.org through the use of cookies. The Foundation only uses this data to improve the overall ngcf.org website and for internal business purposes.

Site/Membership Registration Forms

The North Georgia Community Foundation website registration forms require users to give us contact information (such as name and e-mail addresses), method of payment (if applicable), and demographic information. The North Georgia Community Foundation may use fundholder or applicant's contact information from the registration forms to send the user information about their specific request or about the Foundation. The fundholder or applicant's contact information is also used to contact the visitor when necessary. Information regarding method of payment is collected for donation processing and is not stored in our records.

Surveys

Ngcf.org online surveys ask respondents for contact information (such as e-mail address) and demographic information (such as zip code and age). The North Georgia Community Foundation also may use contact data from its surveys to send information about the Foundation.

Security

This site has security measures in place to protect loss, misuse and alteration of the information under The North Georgia Community Foundation control.
